

ZOOK

ZOOK is a rock'n'roll band based in Helsinki, Finland. Their original soul/blues based songs convince the listener with rocking groove and lyrics that do tell a story. Their debut album is to be released in January 2006 on Kuru Records.

Rhythm is a big word for "ZOOK". Bassplayer Jukka Jylli and drummer Sami Kuoppamäki started playing together in early 90's with "Kingston Wall", and they do share an understanding that can only come with time. The bubbling of the bass and drums grooves so easily, it could be listened to forever.

The one of a kind guitarist Rocka Merilahti, has grown up playing with rockers such as Remu Aaltonen and Mike Monroe. He is making a point with his style and presence, saying that the music has to make him want to dance.

The leader, singer/songwriter Bryn Jones served his apprenticeship fronting his own band at the Marquee Club in London. A London-Welshman, now living in Finland, he enjoys leading ZOOK with his whiskey-toned vocals colouring the songs, whilst allowing the band plenty of space to jam.

On the live circuit " ZOOK " perform their original music with a natural, easy going style and self confidence that is growing with their following. The band started performing in Finland couple of years ago, in 2003, and the gigs have been well attended. In spring 2006, a tour around Finland has been scheduled, supporting the release of Zook's debut album (Jan -06).
